Mrs. Pierce has a good private school at Peak's Mill.

Mr. Tom Stivers is the pedagogue at Antioch at present.

Miss Ida S. Jones will commence a three months' school in the Lewis district about the 1st of April.

Miss May Bacon, one of the county teachers left last Monday for Sedalia, Mo., on a visit.

The Teachers' Association met last Saturday in the city school building, and held a very interesting meeting.

Prof. Lea's lecture on arithmetic was splendid. We are sorry that every teacher in the county did not hear him. He will have the same subject at the next meeting. The Association determined that, hereafter instead of two meetings a month, they would hold two sessions, one morning and one afternoon, on the 2d Saturday in each month. Teachers must make their arrangements accordingly.

ARBOR DAY.

Teachers and children must not forget that the 1st Saturday in April is Arbor Day. Let every school district in the county observe it, and send in a report to the County Superintendent.

PROGRAMME

For the Teachers' Association on the 2d Saturday, 9th of April, at the city school building.

Morning Session, 9:30 A. M.—Opening Exercise.

Arithmetic—J. B. Lea.

Vocal Music—C. H. Parrent.

Afternoon, 1 P. M.

Grammar—T. B. Fort.

History—1st four chapters of Barnes' U. S. History—H. M. Polgrove.

The committee recommended that each teacher read the chapters mentioned above, and be ready to ask and answer questions on them.

RUTH ROBINSON,

MAGGIE DOWNEY,

Committee.

There will be an educational meeting of the 8th district held at Danville, on Saturday, the 26th inst. All teachers and friends of the cause will be welcome.

Among the Colored Citizens.

BY G. H. B.

Rev. Fisher is helping Rev. E. Evans at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. S. Howard is still helping Rev. R. H. C. Mitchell, who will baptize to-morrow at the river.

We would like to hear something about the Normal School Building. We hope the city has not given up the prospect yet.

Rev. J. W. Wade, the Revivalist, is assisting Rev. G. H. Burks at St. John's A. M. E. Church. He is preaching powerful sermons, as he usually does.

The meetings at all the churches are still in progress, and a great many have united with each of the churches. St. John's A. M. E. Church has had forty accessions.

James Stanley was very badly hurt Wednesday evening by the explosion of the boiler at Pence's saw-mill; also Willie Graham and John Hunt (both white) were hurt at the same time. This is the third time that James Stanley has been hurt at the saw-mill.

Yet, while all the churches are laboring to save souls, it seems that there is a revival going on in the whiskey saloons, especially on Sundays. We walked around two squares, about nine o'clock Sunday morning, in the west end, and saw those who ought to have been in Sunday-school hanging around and going in and out of those drinking and gambling hells. Oh, that the city fathers would close those places on the Lord's day, for they are ruining our boys and dragging our old fathers down to hell, and leaving our mothers widows, and our children orphans and paupers.

DIED.—Mrs. Iverson Jones, sister of Mrs. Ed. Yeizer, sr., on Washington street, in her 57th year, at 9 o'clock on Sunday, the 13th. She leaves a husband, four children, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. We say to the husband, children and friends, weep not for her, but prepare to meet thy God in peace.

Mrs. Sallie Rollin, aged 24 years, died on Sunday, the 13th inst. She leaves a husband and two little children, and a host of friends. She was prepared to meet the much dreaded tyrant, death. Her funeral was preached by Rev. Geo. W. Patterson, at the First Baptist Church.

Pea Ridge.

Bro. Roberts will preach here to-morrow (Sunday), at 11 o'clock a. m.

Pike operations suspended a few days for farming, then resumed and farming stopped.

Where is the promised ladies column? We hope some of the ladies will write this week.

Mr. Sam Tracy and family have moved to Shelby county. Our boss veteran mover, Capt. Will Tracy, did the hauling.

What has become of Bro. Darsie and J. E. Miles? The absence of their letters in the Roundabout gives rise to the hope that they are coming home.

One of our citizens lost his cow, and after finding her tried to come home through Stevens' lane, but found two fences across it, so had to go a long way around. It would be a great convenience if road closers would advertise what they intend doing.

Any one who ever suffered ill convenience in traveling on account of closed roads, ought to vote in favor of the new railroad, then there would be one road open not subject to the whim and caprice of any one. This is not a good reason to vote in favor of the railroad, but it is better than many urged against it.

ROUNDABOUT railroad editorial appreciated here except "Bald Knob, Benson and Bridgeport are not directly interested in the road." One part of the county cannot be benefited and us not share in the general prosperity. Our people were not interested in the new reservoir and water-works, but it was a great help to them while in course of construction.

Antioch.

Edward Sheets moved into the house of Mr. Dave Moore last Sunday.

Willis Roach and Red Quire moved to the Trueheart farm last Sunday.

Miss Norah Gore spent several days this week in Bellepoint, visiting friends.

Messrs. Adams and John Ross-well moved into the toll-gate property last Sunday.

Mrs. Robt. Owens and children were the guests of Mr. Butler Gore last Sunday.

Miss Kitty Moore spent several days this week visiting the Misses Owen, of Bellepoint.

Mr. T. C. Hale and family and Mrs. Sue Quire were the guests of Mr. William Hale last Sunday.

Ezra Huelt vacated the farm of Col. David Moore and domiciled on William Moore's farm last Sunday.

Mr. Wallace Quire has been elected collector on the Frankfort and St. John's turnpike—a most admirable selection.

Rev. Virgil Gaines will preach at Antioch to-morrow—or at least that is the understanding. Seats free; come everybody.

Geo. Warfield and James Roswell are the contractors for building the new toll-house on the Frankfort and St. John turnpike.

Mr. Linden Lewis, who has made such an efficient toll collector for President Conway, moved to the farm of Mr. Thomas Jefferson Lewis last Sunday.

The private school of Prof. Thos. Stivers will close in about two weeks. He has made a most acceptable pedagogue, and his patrons are loath to give him up.

Our old neighbor and friend, Job Smith, has removed to Bellepoint, and is now a city gentleman of the highest order. It won't be long before he will be a member of the board, or mayhap a judge. Mighty fine place for big titles.

The annual farce of posting notices of an election of Directors of the Frankfort and Flat Creek turnpike, and then having them appointed by the Court, is near at hand. Please save the expense of notices this year and let the amount go with the dividends.

What has become of the great railroad project? About died out I guess. We are almost unanimous against it out this way, as we can't see that it would benefit us much. We will not object, however, to a few more turnpikes.

The Misses Gore, of South Frankfort, Misses Owen, Fanny Cook, Hallie Hale and Lullie Quire, Messrs. Jos. and John Hale, Col. Jas. Smiley, Capt. Tom Honaker, Maj. John Boston and Mr. Tom Sullivan, of Bellepoint, spent the day, and were feasted by Mr. Jas. Gore last Sunday.

HAWK EYE.

A Genial Restorative.

Hostetter's stomach Bitters are emphatically a genial restorative. The changes which this great botanical remedy produces in the disordered organization are always agreeable, though surely progressive, never abrupt and violent. As this account it is admirably adapted to persons of delicate constitution and weak nerves, to whom the powerful medicinal drugs are positively injurious. That it initiates those processes which result in the re-establishment of healthy vigor is conspicuously shown in cases where it is taken to overcome that initial cause of debility, indigestion, coupled, as it usually is, with biliousness and constipation. Thorough digestion, regular evacuation and abundant secretion, are results which promptly and invariably attend its systematic use. It is, besides, the best protective against malaria and a first-rate diuretic.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade as LeCompte's & Carpenter's Drug Store's giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all other lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size. Every bottle warranted.

PETROLEUM GAS!

AND CAN UNDOUBTEDLY BE FOUND IN PAYING QUANTITIES.

The gas well on High street was opened on Saturday, by the Frankfort Economic Heating Company, and the gas was found still to be present. Its capacity was tested Thursday night by Mr. Reuben Carroll, of Pennsylvania, an expert, who was called here by the Company, and he gave it as his opinion that it was petroleum gas, and could undoubtedly be found in paying quantities. A meeting of the Company was held yesterday and it was determined to sink a well at once. Mr. Carroll had a consultation with State Geologist, Prof. J. R. Proctor, yesterday, and the location of the well will depend very much upon the opinion of those gentlemen as to where the largest body of gas will likely be found.

It is now a settled fact that Frankfort is at last to develop the gas which has been known for years to exist in this city. This looks like progress. Let her boom.

The contract for rebuilding the workshops in the penitentiary has not been let as yet. The bids were opened, but as parties from Jeffersonville, Indiana, were the lowest bidders, who proposed to give Indians as bondsmen, no award was made, for the reason that in case they failed to comply with their contract the Commissioners would have to go out of the State to bring suit against them.

The alarm of fire Wednesday night was occasioned by the burning out of a chimney on upper Main street.

Mr. D. M. Woodson, of this county, civil engineer, is locating the line of the new railroad between Georgetown and Midway.

Mr. Robert Herrmann has sold out his shoe store in this city to Mr. Gorman, and left yesterday with his family for Louisville, to reside.

A new turnpike is to be built from the LeCompte Run and Owenton turnpike, in Scott county, to North Fork, or Switzer, in this county, to be called the Telford and North Fork pike.

A tobacco barn on the farm of Rev. Thomas J. Stevenson, near Switzer, this county, containing a large crop of tobacco, belonging to Messrs. Arnold & Wollam, tenants on the place, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The barn was a total loss, but the tobacco was insured for $300 in the Prescott, of Boston, represented by Mr. C. F. Exum.

The Georgetown Times says the Kentucky Union Railroad is showing itself to be a cheery acquette. Just so, neighbor; if Lexington does not want the road they will try to induce you to take it. Better let it alone, and stick to the Paris, Georgetown & Frankfort line. The latter company want you to have it, and it is by far your best road east.

FOR RENT.—A dwelling house on Lewis street. Apply to Dr. A. W. Vallandigham.

MUNN & CO'S PATENTS

After twenty years' experience in the preparation of many thousands of patents, we have now published the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation in the world. It contains the latest news of the kind, published in the world. The advantages of such a work are many and cannot be fully stated here.

For terms and applications, send for a copy of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which is published weekly at $5.00 a year, and is sent to all subscribers free of charge. It contains the names of all patentees and the date of their patents, and is a valuable work for all who are engaged in the preparation of patents.

Old Farmer Johnson.

The following lines were written by little Patsie Bohannon, of Independence, Missouri, granddaughter of the late Wm. M. Todd, of this city. The little one is but eleven years of age, and it is her poetic inclinations Lawrence says, and it will be a brilliant writer.

Said old farmer Johnson,
"I'm going to town,
To buy my wife, Betsy,
A new Sunday gown."

Then into his buggy
The old farmer got,
And drove into town
In a jolly trot.

As the old farmer
Went jogging along
He sang to himself
A nice little song.

He thought to himself,
As he trotted along,
"I'll buy her a gown
Of bright blue or red."

As he continued
To sing his old song
He said to himself,
"I'll buy her a bonnet."

So the old farmer
Drove slowly up street,
Bowing and smiling
To the friends he would meet.

Up to the store
He drove his old mare,
Getting out quickly
He hitched her with care.

Then into the store
With a light heart he stepped,
To see where the dresses
And bonnets were kept.

After some time was spent
In looking around
The old man proceeded
To purchase the gown.

The next thing he bought
Was a very fine bonnet.
It was made of black velvet,
With a feather upon it.

Then the old man
Proceeded to choose
A pair of gloves and
A new pair of shoes.

Then all together
His bundle he got
And started off home
In a very brisk trot.

When he reached home
His old mare he fed,
And put her away
In a nice warm shed.

Then into the house
He went with a bound,
To show his wife, Betsy,
His new attire gown.

When the old farmer
Came into the room
He said "wife have you heard
Of what they now call the boom?"

"They say our old farm
Is worth a big price
And so I concluded
To buy something nice."

Said she "Farmer Johnson,
As you are loaded on it,
Such a beautiful dress,
Such a love of a bonnet."

Said he, "My dear Betsy,
I'm sure your due,
It gave me great pleasure
To buy them for you."

Now all you good farmers,
If your conscience you ease,
Do like Farmer Johnson
And your wives you will please.

Bridgeport.

Quite close the first of the week.
Taylor Parent has been quite ill this week.

Mrs. Maggie Hawkins has been quite sick since our last report.

Mrs. Eliza Robinson has been very ill during the past week or two.

Mr. B. K. Wade made a business trip to Cincinnati last Monday.

The funeral sermon of Miss Sally Stump was preached in Grafensburg last Sunday.

Mr. Hamlet Harrod, of Bagdad, visited his son, Mr. Jas. W. Harrod the first of the week.

Regular services at South Benson Church to-day and to-morrow at 11 o'clock a. m. each day.

The members of the Christian Church at this place have very much improved their house of worship.

Mr. E. B. Miles, a mite, of Big Spring, Hardin county, has been visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity this week.

Thos. Hunter, C. S. S., Miss Maggie Downey and Col. Thos. B. Ford visited the Bridgeport school last Monday and Wednesday.

Mr. Ryal Wade made a business trip to Georgetown last Saturday. Also Messrs. F. M. Scofield and B. K. Wade to Lawrenceburg the same day.

Mr. Hollan Harrod, who was adjudged a lunatic at the late term of the Franklin Circuit Court, and sent to the Asylum at Anchorage, died at that institution last Monday, March 14th, 1887. He was about seventy-five years of age.

A Sunday-school might be organized in this town—sessions to be held in the evening—without interfering with any other school. If we could all fully realize the enormity of crime committed through sheer negligence on the part of those who profess to be a light unto the world, what a revolution there would be in a short time in this section. A hint, etc.

The Franklin County Teachers' Association convened in the chapel of the City School Building, Frankfort, Ky., March 12, 1887. C. S. S. Hunter presiding. Opened by prayer, Col. R. D. Allen leading. Prof. J. B. Lea demonstrated his method of teaching arithmetic by a class exercise, to the edification and profit of all present. Col. Allen very much enhanced the value of the occasion by some timely remarks in connection with the lesson above cited.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Association be, and are hereby, tendered to the Trustees and Superintendent of the City School for their kindness in offering the use of their building for the meetings of the Franklin County Teachers' Association, which courtesy is accepted and highly appreciated.

Resolved, That the Association meet but once each month—second Saturday, at 9:30 o'clock a. m. Two sessions each day.

C. H. PARRENT, Sec'y.

Stedman

Everybody sowing oats.
Wheat is looking splendid.
Jowl and greens are still in season.

Suckers are biting in Main Elkhorn.

Stock are improving, and young lambs plentiful.

Mr. Frank Hoggins, of Carrollton, visited his parents at this place last week.

Mr. South Trimble and son (Frank) are visiting the family of Mr. L. L. Cox.

Mr. G. Thomson had the misfortune to lose a fine calf, by falling in his well last week.

Any one wanting a fine young mare can be satisfied by calling on Mat. Thomson. She is a beauty.

Rev. Mr. Reed, of Louisville, preached at Mt. Pleasant Sunday, Morgan being absent, caused by sickness.

Mr. G. Stedman has the finest variety of plants for sale we know of. Those wanting same would do well to give him a call.

Mr. Griff Stedman is the most efficient road overseer we have ever had. He has done more for our roads than all of his predecessors.

We understand Mr. Jake Cox arrived at Oakville safe with his bulls. They stood the trip well, considering they were on the train about fifteen days.

Mr. Henry Church gave a delightful dance at his beautiful home, on Main Elkhorn, last week. White's band furnished the music, and everything passed off charmingly.

What has become of the railroad? We can't afford to let it drop. Stir up, farmers, and show your liberality, and keep up the times. Look at all our sister counties, and then vote the tax.

Mr. E. P. Bryan and other gentlemen of the city have made several visits lately to our burg in the interest of the Frankfort Heating and Light Company. They seemed much pleased with the prospects for gas on the premises of Mrs. John Stedman. The well was once opened and afforded plenty of the best gas, which was used in the house of Mr. Samuel Stedman for years.

The Carter Hall has been thronged every night since it opened. The young ladies are learning the art of skating fast. Uncle Mat. knows all the fancy touches, and teaches them to perfection. Solicitations from the Forks, Woodlake and Switzer, urging him to open a gymnasium at each place, have been received, but being a methodical genius, he says he does but one thing at a time.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Miss Katie Cannon has returned home.

Mrs. South Trimble spent last week at Stedman town.

Mrs. J. H. Burdin spent last Tuesday at Stedman town.

Mr. J. V. Crane was in Lexington Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Wm. Sudduth has moved up to Mr. Sid. Bedford's farm.

Mrs. G. C. Hughes is visiting her daughter at Beard's Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Featherston were in Georgetown last week.

Miss Lena Crane, of Stedmanville, was up last week visiting relatives.

Miss Mary Harrington, of Shelby county, is visiting Miss Alice French.

Dr. Wm. Pryor, of Georgetown, was down in this community last week.

Miss Minnie Taylor, of Midway, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Ryland Bedford.

Mrs. Petty has moved into the house which she lately purchased from Mr. Gallihue.

Mr. George Lucas has moved to the Daugherty place, and Mrs. Louis Lea has moved to the Price farm.

Messrs. Robert Frazier and Robert Noel, of Woodlake, will buy wool this season and will pay the highest cash price.

Mr. Jno. Newman fell off of his wagon one day last week, while moving Mr. Sudduth, and was laid up for several days.

Mr. Louis Lea says he is afraid that Zeke Yocum's Democracy will kill him like he killed the rooster that crowed for Cleveland.

Mr. James Gallihue has purchased the Shaw property here for $1,400, and will occupy it as soon as he can make some repairs. In the meantime he and his family will board with Mr. Ryland Bedford.

The U. S. mail from Frankfort to Georgetown, via of the Forks, leaves Frankfort every morning at half past ten. Leave orders at Howard Bros., near wooden bridge, and they will be promptly attended to by the driver, Mr. E. R. Lewis.

Mr. Lon Floran has left Woodlake, and is now a citizen of the Peak's Mill neighborhood. The house he vacated is to be turned into a paragon for Rev. Mr. Lightenmaster, the Woodlake evangelist. We understand he will conduct a meeting at Versailles shortly.

Among the celebrated horses in this neighborhood is one owned by Mr. Bud Jones, King of Elkhorn. He is 6 years old, blood bay, with black points, by King Rene, dam D. Monroe. King shows good speed, is very stylish in appearance, and is the sire of some of the most promising colts we have in the State.

There is a company being organized at this place with sufficient capital to open and develop that oil and gas well at Stedmanville. At a meeting on Tuesday night some two thousand dollars was subscribed. The company expects to have every thing in readiness to commence operations in about two weeks.

Send your plumbing to Buckley. His prices are as low as the lowest for good work.

Northern Early Rose Potatoes for sale at MARTIN BROS.

Experience is the school where man learns wisdom. Buckley's plumber has had the experience, and persons in need of plumbing work will show their wisdom by sending their work to Buckley.

THE KNIGHTS OF HONOR,
AS Factors in Civilization—
Their Plans and Methods.

The aim of true citizenship and civilization is to secure the happiness of the people. Nothing contributes so much to that end as the certainty that our dependent family, after our death, will be looked after and cared for. It has been a problem heretofore, how to secure such a competency, and this has been true especially with that class who are unable, by reason of their restricted income, to accumulate sufficient to make a safe provision for their families. This problem has been solved by the Knights of Honor. Every moral citizen who is in good health may enter the order, and no matter how limited his resources, may provide from one to two thousand dollars for his family in case of his death.

The Knights of Honor is strictly a fraternal order and not a Life Insurance Company or Association. Their methods differ from old life insurance as well as from so-called assessment companies, and in their plans and system all the features of such orders as the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and the like, are added and improved. The feature of a two or one thousand dollar benefit, which is paid on the death of every member in good standing, to such members of his family or dependent, as he may have designated by name, according to the laws of the order. While it is a secret society, the secret part only consists of some pass words and signs, to enable them to guard against impostors, and is kept out of the lodge room. JEW or GENTILE, CATHOLIC or PROTESTANT are alike respected and made welcome. The most devout churchman will find nothing in its composition to offend the strictest loyalty to his creed; it is also patterned after our own democratic institutions, every member has a voice in its management, and is eligible to every office. Every member is compelled to belong to some subordinate lodge, and while his presence at its meetings is desirable and most beneficial to himself and to the order, yet no law exists to compel him to attend. Each lodge is entitled to representation in the Grand lodge of its State, and each Grand Lodge has from two to more representatives in the Supreme Lodge.

In short, the representatives of the subordinate lodge form the Grand lodge, and the representatives of the Grand lodge constitute the Supreme Lodge. The various bodies make the laws of the order and shape its policy; the machinery is so nicely adjusted that the voice of every member, through its representative, is potent in shaping wholesome and just legislation.

There is no preferred class, no close Board of Directors, nor any chance for peculation or dissipation; the officers of the various lodges, subordinate, grand or supreme, are but the instruments to do the will of the members; their duties are clearly defined, and their powers, so-called, strictly limited.

No money can be expended except its payment is voted by a majority of the members, and in the Supreme Lodge as well as the Grand Lodges it must first have been authorized by a vote of these bodies, and each item must receive the sanction of the Finance Committee.

The Supreme Treasurer is under heavy bonds. The money of the order must be and is deposited to the credit of the Supreme Lodge in solvent banks, and can only be drawn on the joint order of the Supreme Reporter and Treasurer, and the bank is required to make daily reports of receipts and disbursements to the Supreme Dictator, who is the president of the order. The Finance Committee has the right at any time to examine the books, and is compelled to do so at stated periods. Whenever a call is made upon members to contribute to the widow and orphan's fund, as will be explained hereafter, a full statement is made how the money theretofore collected has been expended, and this is sent to every lodge and read out in open session. The money to pay death benefits is contributed by the members to the supreme lodge, a contribution of a fraction over a cent raises a fund large enough to pay a benefit of Two Thousand dollars; but these assessments are made in installments of one or two dollars at a time, in order to save expense, and an assessment of two dollars upon each member raises enough to pay the death benefit to 140 deceased members. What able bodied man is there in the land who is not able, by a payment of from one to two dollars a month, to secure to his family from one to two thousand dollars? The death benefits are paid to those entitled, in from fifteen to thirty days after the death is reported to the Supreme Lodge.

Frankfort Lodge, No. 10, located at this place, was instituted February 20, 1877, with twenty (20) charter members. It grew in membership until eighty-two (82) members were added to its list.

Through suspension for non-payment of dues and assessments, withdrawals by card and death, the lodge membership has been reduced to forty-eight (48) members in good standing.

This was one of the first lodges instituted in the State, and has paid all of the assessments called for by the Supreme Lodge, commencing with No. 1 and ending No. 200, which will be due the Supreme Lodge the last of the month. These assessments represent over ten thousand (10,000) deaths and over twenty millions ($20,000,000) of dollars paid the heirs of its deceased members.

In the thirteen (13) years of its existence this lodge has lost by death four (4) members, who were in good standing, viz: Bros. R. W. Wilhoit, J. W. Rupe, Alex. McEwan and John W. McClure, to the heirs of whom has been paid in full the two thousand dollars covering each of their benefit certificates, and within the 60 days time, required by our law.

It is the desire of Frankfort Lodge No. 10, to remove the interest taken in its local organization, and to call the attention of the good, honest, healthy citizens of this city and county to the advantages of membership in its organization, and let them, with us, share in the benefits to be derived during this life, and which, at our death, will go to our loved ones.

For further information call on the officers of the Lodge, C. A. Nelson, Dictator; W. W. McEwan, Vice-Dictator; R. Rogers, Assistant Dictator; A. T. Todd, Reporter; Philip Schertz, Financial Reporter; Y. Herbert, Treasurer, or any members of the Lodge.

Peak's Mill.

Mr. Coleman Carr has moved to Frankfort to reside.

Miss Nellie Bacon is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Cordie Onan.

Miss May Bacon left Monday for a visit to relatives in Missouri.

Rev. T. N. Arnold preached to a large audience at Pleasant Hill Sunday.

Dr. J. Lampton Price, of Frankfort, visited Mr. C. Gran. Graham this week.

Mrs. Mollie Warford, of Cropper's Station, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. G. Hodges.

Miss Laura Hockersmith is visiting Miss Laura Bratton, at White Sulphur, this week.

Miss Anna L. Hodges, who has been visiting relatives in Henry county, returned home Monday.

Mr. Sam. Gaines, of Kansas City, Mo., who has been visiting relatives here, returned home Monday.

Mr. T. N. Sullivan, who has been confined to his room all winter, we are glad to say is able to be out again.

An enjoyable entertainment was given by Mr. Henry Church on the 10th inst., as a pound party and dance, at his residence on Pond Branch. Among the guests were Misses Emma Morris, Mattie Church, Ida Seele, Pearl Pollett, Katie Church, Sallie Black, Claudia Sullivan, Bacon Hodges, Hockersmith Winter, Sallie Triplett, Drue Church, Messrs. Satterwhite, Gregory, Quarles, Onan, Johnson, Sullivan, Leitch, Stone, Dailey, Hockersmith, Graham, Innes, Winter, and many others. The music was furnished by the well known Winter & Bartlett band, who are peers among string musicians. The young people tripped the light fantastic toe till the wee sma' hours of the morning, when all took their departure feeling that they had been entertained by one of Franklin county's long noted hospitable country gentlemen.

The K. U. Out of the Fight.

Meeting Mr. Chas. H. Spoll, attorney for the Kentucky Union Railroad, on the train Thursday morning, we asked what his road was doing; if it was still coquetting with Bourbon and Clark counties, or had frozen to Lexington. He replied that the Union would certainly go to Lexington, and those counties would have to take care of themselves. So one great obstacle in the way of the Paris, Georgetown & Frankfort Railroad is removed, and now let the matter be pushed with energy.

Our neighbors in Scott, who have heretofore been inclined to favor the Union, will now see that the Franklin county delegation was right when they told them the Union people were only making use of them to bring Lexington to terms. The road from this city to the Virginia line is a much better route for both Scott and Bourbon counties to the coal fields, and with the Union influence no longer in the field to confuse the people, there should be a united effort in all the counties through which the road is to pass, to secure it at an early day.

Secretary E. H. Abbott, of the Supreme Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, is missing from Buffalo, N. Y. His accounts are $11,000 short. His bondsmen have made good the amount, and will probably be able to recover most of it. Abbott is in Montreal.—Exchange.

The total amount of Abbott's defalcation is $6,418, which is covered by a bond for $10,000, upon which the New York Trust Company is surety. In addition to this amount, he took with him to Canada drafts on New York made payable to his order, to the amount of $9,000. Payment of them was stopped by telegraph, as soon as it was learned he had fled, and the drafts were surrendered to a committee of the Supreme Council sent to Montreal by the Toronto Bank of that city, where they had been deposited by Abbott for collection. Among the drafts taken by Abbott to Canada, was one for the amount of $2,000 to be paid to the heirs of James Stephens, of Columbus, this State. Everything has been straightened out and the order is in splendid condition.

Prof. Hanson Boring, of Hopkins county, who, for many years, has so ably filled the chair of Mathematics and Ancient Languages at Eminence College, at the earnest solicitation of his numerous former pupils, scattered all over the State, has announced himself a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

As an able, pains taking instructor Prof. Boring has no superior; thoroughly competent, as years of teaching have proved, and as popular, having never taught a pupil that he did not make a life-long friend, and withal so modest and unassuming that his friends take great pleasure and a pardonable pride in bringing before the public a man with so clear a life's record, one so eminently just and competent in educational matters, and they know the highest eulogy that can be paid him is praise well deserved.

Mr. Phil. Carpenter, of Lexington, has purchased a half interest in the drug business of Mr. Jos. LeCompte, and the South Side drug store will hereafter be conducted under the firm name of LeCompte & Carpenter. Both gentlemen have had some thirteen years' experience in the business, and are assisted by Mr. Bishop, a regular registered pharmacist, so that prescriptions sent to that enterprising house will be carefully and accurately prepared as heretofore. Mr. Carpenter is a clever gentleman, well known to many of our citizens and needs no introduction to the public. We are glad he has located permanently in our city.

The first of a series of Teas will be given by the ladies of the Pastors' Aid Society of the Methodist Church, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jason M. Case, No. 210, Broadway, on Friday, the 25th inst., between five and nine o'clock, p. m. The low price of twenty-five cents will be charged at the door, and a substantial supper will be furnished free. Everybody is invited. The proceeds will be used towards enlarging the church, and the Tea should be liberally patronized.

Messrs. Roeder & Co. have opened a first-class confectionery and bakery, at No. 231 St. Clair street, the room formerly occupied by the Post-office, where they will keep the freshest and best goods in their line. Fresh bread and cakes daily, and a full line of fancy candies all ways on hand. Drop in and see them as you pass by.

Capt. George W. Anderson has traded the Blue Wing for the Fanny Fern, a boat of greater speed and carrying capacity. The Fern is a new boat, having been built last fall, and will make her first trip up to this city to-day. Capt. Anderson has made a good trade as the Blue Wing was too slow and too small to accommodate her trade.

The State Board of Equalization re-assembled in this city on Tuesday, and Hon. W. J. Chinn, who was elected to represent this district in the Board, tendered his resignation on account of ill health. The Governor will appoint his successor.

Col. C. E. Bowman has been appointed to the position of Inspector in the General Land Office at Washington, with a salary of $1,200 per annum, and will be assigned to look after the timber depredations.

We are under obligations to Mr. Chas. B. LeCompte for late files of San Antonio, Texas, papers.

We have received from Mr. John E. Miles a box of delicious Florida oranges. They were on the road nearly three weeks, but there was only one or two spoiled ones in the whole lot. Mr. Miles has our sincere thanks, as his present was greatly enjoyed.

In our last issue, in speaking of the contemplated improvement of the Methodist Church, we said that a memorial stone to the late Jacob Swigert would be placed in the tower. We should have said the tower itself would be dedicated to the memory of that eminently pious Christian gentleman.

Oculist and Optician.

Dr. S. M. Wilson, graduate of the School of Optics, New York, is at Buhr's Hotel, and will remain two weeks.

The Doctor makes a specialty of the eye, and also carries a full line of his celebrated Brazilian glasses, which he fits to your eyes on scientific principles. The most difficult sight improved. Those wearing or needing glasses should not fail to call on him.

BORN.

In this county, on Tuesday, March 15th, 1887, to Mr. Charles Newton and wife, a daughter.

In Memoriam.

DIED, at the home of her parents, in Frankfort, on Friday, the 11th of March, FANNIE WELLS, after an illness of three years' duration. Fannie was only eighteen years of age, but had five years ago given herself to Christ. It was this which enabled her, in all her suffering, to manifest the grace of patience, and to display the beauties of this Christian life. Her death has been a special mission on this earth. The memory of her gentle, unassuming spirit should strengthen our sorrowing parents and weeping sister under the present trial, and every other life may bring.

"There is a Reaper whose name is Death,
And with his sickle he has reaped thee;
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that are between."
Oh! not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The Reaper came that day.
"Twain his angel visited the green earth,
And took the flower away."

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 19, 1887.

Rev. G. F. Bagby has returned home, and will fill his pulpit at the Baptist Church to-morrow morning and evening.

Now is the time to set hens, and you should read the advertisement of Mr. L. B. Marshall in another column.

Mr. Thomas Rodman, jr., grocer, made an assignment Saturday to Mr. James M. Saffell for the benefit of his creditors.

The Board of Trade will meet in regular monthly session in the Council Chamber on Monday evening next, at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired.

The first division of the Woman's Exchange of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will furnish for to-day (Saturday). Place of sale, one door north of LeCompte's drug store.

Master Joe Cromeey is again at his old post at the livery stable of Mr. R. C. Church, after an absence of six months. Joe is polite and accommodating, and very popular with the patrons of the establishment.

The Kentucky Central Railroad will sell round trip tickets for one fare from Lexington to Covington to-day, to enable all persons who wish to do so to go to Cincinnati and hear Patti sing in grand opera at Music Hall.

Mrs. Mary T. Bohannon, formerly Miss Mary Todd, of this city, has sold her farm near Independence, Missouri, for $225 per acre. Her late husband purchased it about three years ago for $37 per acre. She will remove to Independence to reside.

About two o'clock Wednesday afternoon the boiler in the lower saw-mill of Messrs. Wakefield & West, better known as the Hatchett mill, collapsed its flues and moved out of position some forty feet, in the direction of the Lewis Ferry pike. The mill was badly wrecked, but fortunately none of the employees were fatally injured. James Stanley, colored, employed as sawdust wheeler, was standing in front of the furnace when the accident occurred, and was blown about 75 feet and fell upon the railroad track leading to the river, and was more seriously injured than any one else, being scalded and bruised badly. John Hunt and Willie Graham were at the river starting the syphon, and the latter was struck in the back with a brick and badly bruised, but will soon be out. Mr. Hunt was struck on the left elbow by flying debris, receiving a painful wound. Al. Arvin received a severe scalp wound, and several others were slightly injured. Reuben Patterson, the colored fireman, had a narrow escape. He was standing upon a ladder in the act of getting upon the top of the boiler, and was thrown backward about forty feet in the direction of Congleton Bros' mill, and escaped without a scratch, though his face was filled with dirt. The boiler was an old one, and the mill had been idle for several years. The fireman said he had up but eighty pounds of steam, and had two gauges of water in the boiler.

Our Circulation

To the Editor of the Roundabout: While standing on the porch of the hotel in Pensacola a few days ago, I saw a gentleman reading the Roundabout. As I had seen it in Kansas some time before, I was curious to know what States it is sent to. Please tell in next issue. Yours,

CURIOUS.

Our mail book shows the following States and Countries to which the Roundabout is sent every Saturday—33 in all:

- Alabama,
- Arkansas,
- California,
- Delaware,
- District of Columbia,
- Florida,
- Georgia,
- Illinois,
- Indiana,
- Idaho Territory,
- Japan,
- Kansas,
- Kentucky,
- Massachusetts,
- Maryland,
- Madeira Islands,
- Mexico,
- Minnesota,
- Mississippi,
- Missouri,
- Montana Territory,
- New Jersey,
- New York,
- Ohio,
- Oregon,
- Pennsylvania,
- South Carolina,
- Tennessee,
- Texas,
- Virginia,
- Washington Territory,
- West Virginia,
- Wyoming Territory.

A Liberal Proposal.

Mr. Dan. Meagher, sr., proposes to donate four acres of his ground in Brown's bottom to the Frankfort, Georgetown and Paris Railroad Co. for depot purposes, and we further learn that all land owners in the bottom are ready to relinquish the right of way to said railroad. So much, so good.

Mrs. Matilda Buhr has received from the Catholic Knights of America $2,000 insurance upon the life of her husband, the late George Buhr.

Owing to the failure of the Deficiency Appropriation Bill in Congress, the Postal Delivery System will not be put in operation until July 1st.

"Fortune's Fool" at the Temple.

[From the Courier-Journal, March 15.]

"Fortune's Fool" was the bill at the Masonic Temple Theater last evening. It was the first presentation of the play before a Louisville audience. The story is interesting, well worked up, the dramatic action is good, and the cast is thoroughly efficient. It was also the first time Miss Louise Rial has been seen here in a principal part. The result was a triumph for the artist. There was an average attendance, and the applause was unstinted.

Miss Rial was seen as Concile Loriot, a Parisian premiere danseuse, who marries a man she fancies she loves and afterwards discovers her mistake in the handling of her talent. Her voice has much flexibility and richness, and her expression is always good.

Mr. W. F. Burroughs is the leading support, and figures as Jack Thornton, generous, heroic, but born under an evil star. Mr. Burroughs is an actor of sterling worth, and makes as much of Jack as the author ever intended.

The sourette part of Leis Wilmarth is excellently well taken by Miss Marie Hartley, a rollicking little body, who is "cute," as the expression goes, and delights in teasing. Miss Lillian Richardson deserves mention for her ability as an actress and her beauty as a woman. She appears as Lillian Wilmarth, in love with Jack Thornton.

Mr. Will. S. Marion, the author of "Fortune's Fool," plays Richard Darroet, a man of the world, who falls in with Jack Thornton, and who uses him for a time as a convenience.

Clara Sarracini (Walter R. Jennings) turns up in the concluding act as the original husband of Concile, and has but little to do beyond identifying her.

Opera House, March 24th.

We have this day sold one-half interest in our South Side Drug Store to Mr. P. H. Carpenter, who is a druggist of twelve years' experience. The business will be continued under the firm name of LeCompte & Carpenter, and shall be as carefully conducted in the future as in the past. We trust our friends will extend to the new firm the same patronage we have heretofore enjoyed, and for which we are grateful.

Yours truly,

JOS. & CHAS. B. LECOMPTÉ.

Our motto is still purity, accuracy, neatness and dispatch. We ask a share of the public patronage, and will try to deserve it by accurate compounding of prescriptions and close attention to business. Mr. D. F. Rice, our clerk, is a graduate of pharmacy, from Ann Arbor, Mich., and registered by the Kentucky State Board of Pharmacy.

Mr. Laub, who bought the stock of the Assignee of Sol. Harris, has removed all the remaining goods from this city.

I have purchased an entire new stock of Dry Goods, Fancy Goods and Millinery, and will be open for inspection on or before Monday, March 21st, 1887. I respectfully invite my friends and patrons to call and see my new stock of goods which I intend to sell lower than the lowest. Thanking you kindly for your former patronage, and hoping you will continue, I am

Letter From Florida.

ORLANDO, FLA. March, 7, 1887.

Dear Roundabouts:

Yesterday was the day for me to write, but, being busy getting in a car load of flour and getting out some orders, was prevented. In fact, after getting through, I was too tired to write, and did not take my evening walk.

This morning, after drumming the town and writing several business letters, I commenced this to friends at home. It is for friends alone that induces me to write, and I usually do it with pleasure, but this morning my pen seems to drag.

The climate now is splendid, have not had a cloudy day for several weeks. I am enjoying it, but my mind is continuously running homeward. Home has always been a dear spot to me, not the little piece of ground, but the dear ones connected with that little piece of ground. If I had them all with me perhaps I would in time feel as though this was my home.

Florida has done a great deal for me. I have not gained much in flesh but in feelings. I have gained several hundred pounds, and, at present, I seem to be tied up here with a part of my family with me, but if I had them all here and should never return, Frankfort and the people of Frankfort, and especially individuals in the place and for miles around it, who I have known and have been known to, who have been true to me and mine, through adversity and prosperity, from my earliest relations to the present day, my bosom swells out towards them, and while life lasts the old town and its people will ever have a warm place deep down in my heart. I sometimes feel that I will never be able to go back in the old mill again, health is worth more than all else. I feel that the mill can run without me and I can make it more profitable by handling the product at this end of the line, a trade for which I am getting up all over South Florida. Here, as at home and elsewhere, our flour stands at the head; when once used it takes the lead.

Some may think I am writing too much about myself. I said in my first letter it was written for my friends, not any one in particular, but for all, they being interested in my welfare, peculiarly and otherwise, hence I write. It is for them, the interest they take, that influences me to write, I might say inspires me. Without this feeling I could not write. I commence because it is a duty, after commencing the fire is kindled and begins to burn and the dragging is left behind or disappears, and it becomes a pleasure. I pick a dear one out in my mind (these letters are mostly for the dear ones) and write directly to him or her. I have written but two letters, except business ones, and those to the ROUNDABOUT, since my coming to Florida; but enough of this.

Florida is undeveloped in every thing except climate; this is grand as a whole. The few cold snaps that have come since I have been here soon pass away. Some times they do a great deal of damage. About the first of this month the thermometer was down to 30, cucumbers and other vegetables of a tender nature were more or less killed, peaches were not hurt; those I spoke of in my last or next to last letter being as large as peas are now as large as large size marbles. Orange trees that were in bloom were not hurt. Some of the early oranges are now as large as peas, some are in bloom, some just commencing to bloom, some not showing signs of blooming, with the old oranges in a great many groves still hanging on the trees. In one of my former letters I told you the orange tree was an evergreen; I never knew whether the leaves lasted always or anything about it. I can now say I know all about it. The trees are now new leaved in full; the new leaves come out and force the old ones off the tree. Just before falling off they turn a little yellow, only slightly, and drop off one by one. The ground beneath the trees is covered now with the old dead leaves. The old orange clings as tight now as it did when I first came, very few having dropped off.

I said everything except climate was undeveloped, and will now try to explain what I mean by this. In the first place, most of the land has to be fertilized, especially the pine or sandy land—most of the land is of this nature. There is what is called the hummock land; this is generally land on the rivers or the lakes where the water has been lowered by cutting a ditch and draining the same, leaving the land low and flat. This is considered by some the best land for everything, especially vegetables. The Indian River orange is grown almost wholly in hummock land. It produces a much thinner skin than the pine land orange, but the pine land orange will stand shipping much better, the former is too tender. This I have been told since being here and found to be true by shipping both kinds home to friends. The orange is the main thing raised here.

I wrote some time since the people lived on speculation; that they would have to get over this and had as well begin first as last. Although the orange is raised but few realize much from them, hence the ultimate result of the growth of the orange is undeveloped. You can raise them, there is no doubt of that, but to make it a paying crop is the question. The railroads charge such exorbitant rates of freight that by the time they are shipped north and go into the hands of the commission men the returns amount to almost nothing, the same with early vegetables, hence they are neglected. Even the orange is being neglected only to set out groves to sell, and this has about played out. They cannot raise vegetables profitably here for the reason that the very time they want rain it don't come. They say they can irrigate, that the country is full of lakes, that they can put up wind mills, and have tanks, and use hose, &c.; this is all true, but they are not doing it.

It is true there are early peas, strawberries, beans, &c., in market, but they are so high that but few of them are sold, the canned vegetables being a great deal the cheapest and are being used. I believe vegetables can be raised, and profitably, if one has the money and prepares for it, but the earliest, to make a season, will have to be under glass, as they are liable to be killed even in March. Every time there is a blizzard up north it is felt more or less here. One great fault of the people here is, they are inclined to misrepresent. They will tell of the sunshine, flowers, oranges, tropical fruits, &c., but never tell of the cost. It is true the sunshine is free, but everything else raised costs five times as much as it does anywhere else to my knowledge. Take this hummock land I have spoken of as being the richest for vegetables, &c., after the trees have been cut and taken off it will cost from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars per acre to get the roots out of the ground. As an acquaintance said to me, you would have to rent two acres to put the roots on that come out of one. The palmetto grows in this class of land, and there is several kinds of palmettos, the roots of which grow in the ground and through the ground. If a man gets out three feet square in a day he has done a big day's work. At one dollar and twenty-five cents a day, how long will it take and what will be the cost? It is almost incalculable. This land on Indian river or near Orlando will cost from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars per acre. A poor man that is influenced to invest in this class of land or in groves, the lands of which cost the same, the second or third year offers his place for sale; he has to sell or leave it, as he has nothing to go on with. There is not an orange grove or house and lot that is not for sale, so far as I have observed, in this portion of the State. The county is supported by visitors and those who are influenced to invest either in orange groves or lands or town lots. What the future of Florida will be no one knows, as I have said it is undeveloped until money is brought from somewhere and invested, and test what Florida can do to her fullest capacity. I believe the climate alone is worth a thousand dollars an acre. I believe you can raise most any thing here that can be raised north, but it will take, as I said, five times as much expense to do it. After all this, I believe it will pay, but still, so far, has not in anything to any extent. It is true some few individuals are pointed out who, they say, have made it pay, but the masses lose money, who invest with the idea of making money by gardening or groves. The rich man does not invest in this, his idea is speculation alone. The first thing to be done is for the railroads to make travel and freights cheap, as a man with his family who comes here, if his family is of any size, and travels to any extent, unless he has a full purse and something behind it to keep it replenished, and takes in the whole State as one would like, he will leave the State a poor man. The regular fare over all the roads is five cents a mile. It is true one can get a thousand mile ticket for two and a half cents a mile over any road, but you want to use all the roads but no one road as much as a thousand miles, therefore you can't avail yourself of those tickets. So with freight to any point in northern Florida or Georgia or Alabama. They are made to pay local freights until it eats up whatever is shipped. I was in the depot here a few days since, a party asked the rate on oranges to Philadelphia; he was told fifty cents a box. I asked the rate to Frankfort, Ky.; he looked and said he had no rates to Frankfort. I asked for Louisville, he answered ninety-five cents. Philadelphia is a great deal further and only about half the rate to Louisville. I shipped you and others a box each. You have got the Philadelphia rate. You will see the difference when you pay it. What makes the difference is competition in water freights. And, by the way, the oranges that are being sold through Kentucky and the north, outside of Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and the large cities, are the very cheapest class of oranges, actually not fit to eat. To think of eating oranges that are advertised for sale in Frankfort at ten cents a dozen. The railroads should put rates down so the first-class oranges could be bought and sold, and people who use them could get a good, sweet, delicious, and wholesome article. I do actually believe one grand cause of the improvement in my health is the good oranges I have to eat, that has been at my free use at all times. I have reduced my eating to two before each meal, as I do not believe it is good to eat too much of anything.

I read Bro. Darsie's letter about my "literature" or my becoming a "literary fellow." I wish to say to him that I have no tendency in that direction, do not think much of them myself. I hesitate about sending them every time, but as he, with others, takes an interest in them it inspires me to scribble them off, and will say besides, he takes no more interest in mine than I do in his letters, and would like to see them often than I do.

Boom the railroad and the gas well. The City Council would not let Miles & Son open the gas well at their own expense and test it, but I hope they will let some one do it and do other things and get up a boom for Frankfort, as other places in the West and South are doing. We have laid still long enough, we must do something and do it quickly. We are not living for ourselves alone but for those to come after us, who will soon take our places. The interest we all should have in the future should nerve us to work. I have been looking out for railroad news in every paper. The people of Frankfort and Franklin county should work in concert. They are one, their interest and their destiny are one. I am in hopes they will move and move all along the line.

Yours truly,
JOHN E. MILES.

Married.—Tuesday, March 8th, 1887, Mr. John Gilbert, of Mt. Zion, Indiana, and Miss Jennie Peyton. An elegant reception was given at the home of the bride.

Little Charley, son of Frank Waldner and wife, died March 14, near Bailey's mill. How sad to realize the fact that little Charley is no more—cut down as he was in the childhood of his life. To the bereaved husband, wife, and relatives we tender our heartfelt sympathy.

Died.—March, 4th, 1887, Mrs. Malinda Warren, age 80 years, 9 months and 21 days. She and her husband, who died about three years ago, came to this place from Winchester, Ky., about 1842, where she has resided until her death. She was the mother of 11 children, grandmother of 51, and great-grandmother of 39. She professed the Christian religion 60 years ago. Sad, sad indeed is the thought that we are no more to see her in this world, but she is gone to join the aged partner of her joys and sorrows in the great hereafter. She did her part in warning the living to take heed to the fact that the time of departure from this earth is a secret known only to God.

Thanks be to God we may all meet her in the glory land where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest.

Swift's Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:
DEAR SIRS:—For ten years my blood was in a very bad condition, evolving its ill humors in a chronic swollen and violently red nose, and innumerable boils that frequently appeared on my face looked as if I had a severe case of erysipelas. Some time ago I determined to try S. S. S., as I had heard so much of the Specific as a blood purifier. After using six large bottles of S. S. S. I was entirely cured. The violent deep red color left my nose, the boils disappeared permanently, and my general health was built up wonderfully. I regard S. S. S. not only as the best blood purifier, but also as the finest tonic for reduced constitution and general debility that I know of. Yours truly,
W. J. POLLARD.

From Rev. Mr. Kelly.

Myself and wife were seriously afflicted with malarial poison, nervous prostration and general debility. After using three large sized bottles of Swift's Specific, we now consider ourselves almost entirely free from any blood impurities, and are as active and supple as we were twenty years ago. I take pleasure in recommending S. S. S. to all who are suffering from any impurities of the blood, dizziness or nervous headache. Blood and Money.

The blood of man has much to do in shaping his actions during his pilgrimage through this troublesome world, regardless of the amount of present or expected money in pocket or stored away in bank. It is a conceded fact that we appear as our blood makes us, and the purer the blood, the happier, healthier, prettier and wiser we are; hence the oft repeated interrogatory, "how is your blood?" With pure streams of life-giving fluid coursing through our veins, bounding through our hearts and plunging through our physical frames, our morals become better, our constitution stronger, our intellectual faculties more acute and grander, and men, women and children happier, healthier and more lovely.

The unprecedented demand, the unparalleled curative powers, and the unmistakable proof from those of unimpeachable character and integrity, point with an unerring finger to B. B. B.—Bottle Blood Balm—as far the best, the cheapest, the quickest and the grandest and the most powerful blood remedy ever before known to mortal man, in the relief and positive cure of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Skin diseases, all taints of blood poison, Kidney complaints, old ulcers and sores, cancers, catarrh, etc.

B. B. B. is only about three years old—a baby in age, a giant in power—but no remedy in America can make or ever has made such a wonderful showing in its magical powers in curing and entirely eradicating the above complaints, and gigantic sales in the face of hostile opposition and would-be moneyed monopolists.

Letters from all points where introduced are pouring in upon us, speaking in its loudest praise. Some say they receive more benefit from one bottle of B. B. B. than they have from twenty and fifty and even one hundred bottles of a boasted concoction of inert and non-medical roots and branches of common forest trees. We hold the proof in black and white, and we also hold the fact.

All who desire full information about the cause and cure of Blood Poisons, Scrofula and Scrofulous Swellings, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, Catarrh, etc., can secure by mail, free, a copy of our 32-page Illustrated Book of Wonders, filled with the most wonderful and startling proof ever before known. Letter from Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, March 7th, 1887.
To the Editor of the Roundabout:
Being a "constant reader" of your paper, I have not failed to notice that for some time past you have been giving to your readers many interesting letters from the "land of sunshine and flowers." I have also seen frequent communications from other points far removed from "my old Kentucky home," but never have I seen a direct communication from this young, but rapidly growing and golden, North-west.

I want, through the columns of your paper, to say something to your readers, touching the history and wonderful improvement of this grand section of our country, but I feel that my first duty is to the land of my birth. So this epistle shall be devoted to items of interest and of the greatest importance to those who dwell among the rugged hills and beautiful valleys of my native county. Hereafter it shall be my pleasure to tell them of the advantages offered by this, the home of my adoption.

I love Frankfort and her people, and would gladly see her prosper even as it seems (from her natural situation and advantages) God had intended that she should.

From a long and intimate association with the people of Frankfort and Franklin county, I learned to know them well. I remember that there was one characteristic which seemed common to them all, viz: inquisitiveness. But I also remember that they were ever hungry for information concerning persons, while they were slow to investigate and slower to appreciate facts concerning those things that would add most to the wealth and prosperity of their city and county. To the above truth it is chargeable that Frankfort is of so little importance is the commercial and manufacturing world.

Now, I do hope that none among you will take offense at the truth above written; I would be the last to wound the feelings of those who for years have dealt so kindly with me and mine. Yet, when we leave our native city and go out into the world and see with what rapid strides other and younger places are crowding their way into the front rank of commercial importance, it cuts to the quick to know that those we have left at home are sitting idly by, with folded hands, permitting opportunity after opportunity to improve their condition pass by their very doors, to be embraced by smaller but more wide awake neighbors (Lawrenceburg secured the Louisville Southern Railroad), and with bowed heads consent that their great natural advantages shall go to waste.

In answer to the question "how are things at Frankfort," my old, respected and valued friend, Judge G. W. Craddock, once remarked to me: "Frankfort is a Dead Sea, a stagnant pool, with none of that energy and business push so necessary to a healthy, certain business growth and general prosperity, and unless we do something to put the waters in motion, to strengthen and revive the business interests there, I fear we are doomed to dry up and be blown away, even as the chaff before the wind."

I agree with him entirely, and those who have given the subject any thought must also be convinced of the truth of his figure of speech.

Year by year you see your young men leaving, going somewhere, anywhere, that they may find employment that will give them in return for their labor a fair compensation.

Under the present state of things, the man who can make a living in Frankfort, and in case of a few weeks' sickness still have enough to pay his attending physician and a nurse, is a genius, and in one of the thriving, growing towns of the North-west could make a fortune.

The people of Frankfort must wake up. If they would see a change for the better they must, to use a Western expression, "rustle." What she needs is energy—her people have the ability. Her old men must take more interest in the affairs of the present and give less time to brooding over memories of the past; her young men, upon whose shoulders, in a short time, will rest the responsibilities of the city's affairs, must give up street corner discussions on matters of no importance, and put their shoulders to the wheel and help roll the old coach out of the mire in which she is stuck so fast, on to more solid ground. And when she is once started up the road to prosperity, she will move along, even as have some of her more prominent Southern sisters.

The way to bring Frankfort into prominence is to quit growling among ourselves and get down to the work of building up her interests. Do not be blinded by prejudice. Quit saying "I won't have anything to do with this or that scheme, because it has the support of A. or B." Such silly narrow-mindedness as this has throttled the growth of the city too long.

I see by the papers that the question of building a railroad from Frankfort to Georgetown and Paris is being agitated. By all means, at whatever cost, build the road, and at the same time induce the Louisville Southern railroad to tap Frankfort. These two roads, with their connections, would give Frankfort an equivalent of six roads, and would break the grip that the L. & N. has had upon your windpipe through all these years. And then, with slack water navigation from the three forks of the Kentucky river to the Ohio, to the head of navigation on the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and from thence again to the sea, you would be in a position to offer inducements to manufacturers to come to the town. I believe what I write, I know it, for I see the very great advantages accruing from these things every day, not only in this city, but in many Western and North-western towns.

Fuel would be cheap, wood and iron working concerns could find no better location. Your increased railroad facilities, etc., would so reduce freight that the business of the town would more than double in two years; five years would see the population doubled and the value of property quadrupled. Men and money would come to the town, boys who are now growing up in idleness and dissipation would find employment for their hands and their brains, loafers would desert your streets, and with them would go, in a great measure, the disturbances of the public peace now, and for years past, so common there, and Frankfort, the beautiful, dreamy-eyed, lazy maiden of the hills, wedded to industry, would become the proud mother of prosperous and happy sons and daughters.

Editor Roundabout:

It is said that there is a tide in the affairs of men; it is true also with communities, and if taken at its flood, will lead to fortune. Franklin county has its booming tide. Will its citizens catch the flood or let the railroad ebb part them? Our county and city has reached a period in their history when it is live or die, progress or decay.

The question of a new railroad stands at our doors. The company asks us to assist them in constructing this road, at the same time offering us collateral for assistance.

Shall we assist them or not, is the question? If we desire our county and the capital city to grow in population; if we desire cheaper rates and more convenient shipping facilities; if we desire capitalists to come among us; if we desire our property to increase in value, and a spirit of enterprise to take hold of our people, we should encourage the project.

But if the people of the city and county want real estate to depreciate in value, and God knows we are dead enough now; if the voters of Franklin county want to entirely kill the business of the city and county, and drive away a population which the city would have, and which would make a market for our country produce. All this will be done if we oppose the making of this road. I say, that no man who has the commercial progress of his city or county at heart will oppose this enterprise. The opposition comes from the croakers, the narrow-minded and selfish class, who would feed a horse and starve their own children to death. These are the ones who are unwilling to bear a share of small taxation for the good of the county. Thank God they are few. Franklin county was not made for the exclusive use of a few self constituted aristocrats and dignitaries, who have no more enterprise than the mummies in the tombs of Egypt.

We live in a time when we should act upon principles—that it is right to do the most good to the many. Were it not for this principle actuating others, the farmers of Franklin county would not have the fine turnpike roads that leads to the Frankfort market; and Bald Knob and Benson could have nothing to market over dirt roads but chinquapins and hoop-poles.

As Frankfort spent her thousands to give us good pikes and a navigable river, so did Cincinnati and Louisville spend their millions, and taxed themselves for their own and our good. The croakers kicked—the railroad tax was an eye-sore to them—and they have enjoyed the benefits of the road for forty years; and that road is now a standing monument of enterprise. It should be an incentive to take another step in the boom setting in all along the line in the new South. The rose bud that won't expand will rot, and if Franklin county won't advance in the progressive march, she will fall into the waste basket of bankrupt counties, and her enterprising and industrious citizens will have to migrate and leave her, a deserted village.

We see Lexington and Danville, who lost thousands on railroad that were failures, striving to gain another road. It is strange, but true. The largest tax-payers and property-holders are in favor of the road, and the opposition comes from that class who care nothing for the commercial prosperity and growth of the city of Frankfort or Franklin county; and nine times out of ten are barriers to every species of enterprise set afloat for advancement and development.

Now this road is certainly a boom for our county. The sum of $150,000 to be expended will only add five cents additional tax, while the money expended by the company, within a radius of ten miles in the county, will amount to over $400,000, giving employment to hundreds, now in enforced idleness, and bringing coal to our door at a reduction of five cents per bushel. Any man, a householder, who burns one hundred bushels a year will save $5 upon that one article alone, more than three times the tax he pays on a small home, if he is so fortunate as to have one. We can export and import our articles of trade at greatly reduced rates. We can get a good price for our timber; and freestone quarries can get a good market; and the sound of the loom and hammer will be heard keeping time to the whistle of the new enterprise. I hope it will wake up the Rip Van Winkles of Franklin county, to gaze on a new civilization and a new railroad, which will benefit all, the drone, as well as the enterprising.

Editor Roundabout:

Having seen from the paper that the incorporators of the Frankfort Heating Company were opening the old gas well on Jerry Brislan's corner, I have taken the liberty of encroaching on your valuable space, with some facts about natural gas, which will probably be of interest to some of your many readers.

A correspondent writing to the Cincinnati Enquirer from Finley, Ohio, says:

A Sabbath stillness prevails. The air is clear, and although the dinner hour is on, not a single residence chimney sports its wreath of smoke. A puff of cloud of steam shows over the roof of the immense table factory on the one hand, while on the other, and some distance to the north, the three great glass factories loom up clean and new, with no evidence at the mouth of the wide-throated chimneys to indicate the flames that are raging with a heat of infernal intensity below. Near them one can see the long low roof of the edged tool works, but there are no towering stacks to conduct the smoke from the furnaces beneath—and for the very simple reason that no smoke is to be conducted. The heat-generating power is natural gas, about which men say so much and know so little—more particularly those who have never witnessed an exhibition of its appalling force.

"Wonderful!" "Marvelous!" "Miraculous!" are the epithets heard, and they fail to convey the subject. It is beyond the power of man to grasp. Niagara is at once the wonder and admiration of the whole civilized world. The extract is a sublime reality, undiminished and explainable by natural laws. The gas is a greater wonder, because an earth-bowled mystery. The wells, now twenty feet deep, are from 1,000 to 2,000 and more feet in depth. They reach well into the Trenton limestone, which constitutes nature's great receiver. Strange to say, a well on one side will produce oil, and on the other gas, and both are obtained at about the same relative depth and from the same strata of the earth's crust. Though the gas is an important industry, your Findlayite says nothing about it. While the wells are held by local companies, and are being constantly worked, gas has been overlooked in its importance that the visitor will hear nothing unless he himself branches the subject. But gas—it is in the air and keeps the citizen company asleep and awake. It is easy of detection, emitting an odor not unlike blue-ink, and is in that respect more to be desired than the Pittsburgh fluid, which bears no taint. It is of greater body, too, showing a much greater percentage of carbon. The force with which it leaves even the small wells commands unlimited respect; but when one stands before such an one as was tapped but two days ago on the Heck farm, a tremor akin to terror is felt. The hissing noise of the escaping current amounted almost to a shriek, and it could be distinctly heard a quarter of a mile away, and that while the escape pipe was on a level with the ground.

The famous Keg well has been a distance of nine miles, and the light will cast a perceptible shadow twelve miles away. The pressure is four hundred pounds to the square inch, and it is now supplying all the light and heat for house use, and at the same time feeding the fires for oil well boilers within a radius of three miles. The gas has been running for two years, and is just as fierce and ready as on the day the drill revealed its presence, and was blown out of the tube and through the top of the derrick for its insignificance.

Sixteen hundred houses are now under contract to be built. Two additional glass factories have fixed upon their location, as also iron and steel works and a rolling mill. One of the glass men who started there less than a year ago, with little else but debts, has paid them all up, and the coming season will double his capacity. Can anything be more conclusive?

The march of improvement and solid advancement has just begun. The tide has turned, and while the gas works sink to the dust whence they came, the town is moving with all the speed that enterprise, business thrift, abundant capital and judicious employment of the unlimited means at hand can command. The credit is due to nature and man, and in man's work Cincinnati has been largely interested. The whole idea as observed at Findlay is difficult to realize. It baffles description, and is, in reality, one of the few natural phenomena that must be seen to be understood and appreciated.

The man with an eye to the future can not but feel an interest in this place, which, with its advantages, is destined to rank as a great commercial and manufacturing center. Those who are first in the field will assuredly reap untold benefit. In conclusion, it will be a city of model homes. Marital troubles will have no place, as no husband will have the face to quarrel with his wife for the distinction of putting a match to the morning fire.

The escape of gas from the Karg well is so strong that a crow bar can not be held over the opening by the strongest man. An elbow was put in this well, the jet lighted, and it reached across the river 100 yards. The grass began to shoot during the winter and tramps slept in comfort upon the opposite bank under the blaze without covering when the thermometer was 30 degrees below zero.

A contract was recently made by Findley parties to sink three wells to gas for $2,350.

With all of Findley's wealth of gas, one well has been sunk which is a failure.

At Corry, Ohio, five wells were sunk, but none furnished sufficient pressure till 500 pounds nitro glycerine was exploded in one of them, when it became a perfect jumbo. Gas is supplied at 25 cents per stove, grate or room per month to residences. It is cheaper to let your stove continue to burn than to re-light it. Mr. McArthur says his stove has not been out for 30 days, that by a turn of his valve he builds his fire or lets it die down. He says there has been no serious accident; that he burned (but not blistered) his hand once. That a "tender foot" first turns on the gas, then inserts his hand into the stove or grate, which, being filled with gas flashes like powder, and you have a burned hand almost before you know it. That the correct way is to put your light into the stove and then light the gas. I see I am taking up too much of your space and will stop for the present.

Another railroad conference was held at Paris on Friday. Judge P. D. Bush, of Frankfort, President of the Paris, Georgetown and Frankfort Railway Company, and Charles Stoll, representing the Kentucky Union Railway, were present, in consultation with the Bourbon County Committee. Judge Bush stated that he would be able by the 24th inst. to make a final proposition, at which time capitalists, whom it was expected would build the proposed road, would be present. Mr. Stoll asked, in behalf of the Directory of the Kentucky Union, that the committee should suspend action upon the proposition heretofore submitted to them by the Kentucky Union until Clark and Fayette counties should indicate what they would do.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

FURNISHED BY GLOVER & DUBRETT, PROPRIETORS LOUISVILLE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE.

The sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3,304 hds., with receipts for the same period of 3,422 hds. The sales since January 1st amount to 26,306 hds.

We have had another week of large receipts and sales. Our first grades of Burley (Common Trash excepted) were decidedly better until the latter part of the week, since then they have been irregularly lower on all grades from medium fillers down. Every thing from medium fillers up, of decided character, have been firm. Common Trash is possibly a bid or two stronger than they were the last week, but are not notably higher. No material change in Old Burleys. The following quotations fairly represent the market for new burley:

Dark Trash	$1.50 to $2.25
Colony Trash	2.50 to 3.50
Common Lugs, not colony	3.00 to 4.00
Colony Lugs	4.00 to 4.50
Common Leaf, not colony	4.00 to 5.00
Good Leaf	5.00 to 7.00
Fine Leaf	10.00 to 14.75

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

The Beattyville Dam.

The following correspondence relative to the Beattyville dam is submitted, with the hope that it may allay the fears of our people on a matter of vital interest to them. We call special attention to the letter of Maj. Post.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON CITY,
Feb. 11, 1887.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th ult., inclosing one of the 10th ult., from Hon. W. J. Caudill, of Manchester, Ky., relative to the obstruction to navigation of the Kentucky river by the recently completed improvement at Beattyville, Ky., and requesting that the matter receive immediate attention. In reply I beg to inclose a communication of the 7th inst., from the Chief of Engineers upon the subject, together with a copy of a report of the 31st ult., from Maj. Jas. C. Post, Corps of Engineers, to whom the matter was referred. The Chief of Engineers states that Maj. Post gives a clear statement of the facts of the case, and of the proposed remedies, which, it is hoped, will prove satisfactory. Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
WM. C. ENDICOTT,
Secretary of War.
To Hon. W. P. Taubee, M. C.

OFFICE OF CHIEF OF ENGINEERS,
UNITED STATES ARMY,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7, '87.
Hon. W. C. Endicott, Secretary of War.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the reference to this office, for report of the communication of the 10th ult., from the Hon. W. P. Taubee, M. C., inclosing letter addressed to him by Hon. W. J. Caudill, of Manchester, Ky., in relation to the obstruction to navigation of the Kentucky river by the improvement recently completed on that river at Beattyville, and to state that it was referred to Maj. J. C. Post, Corps of Engineers, a copy of whose report, dated January 31, 1887, is herewith submitted. Maj. Post gives a clear statement of the facts of the case, and of the proposed remedies, which, it is hoped, will prove satisfactory. Mr. Taubee's letter and inclosure are herewith returned. Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
J. C. DUANE,
Brig. Gen. Chief of Engineers.

U. S. ENGINEER OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO,
January 31, 1887.

Respectfully returned to the Chief of Engineers, U. S. A.: The dam at Beattyville referred to within, was built in accordance with the plan submitted by a Board of Engineers, Feb. 21, 1884. This contemplated the construction of a fixed dam 469 feet long with a lift of 14 feet, and with two passes or chutes, each 60 feet wide, closed by bear-trap gates.

This work was completed in November, 1886, and since that time the gates have worked perfectly, fulfilling all that was anticipated from them. The difficulty complained of by those who are to use the chutes is, that the waves at the meeting of the current and still water at the foot of the chutes, are so high to permit rafts or boats passing through them safely. This probably is true at some heights of water and experiments are now being made to ascertain to what extent this condition obtains. The result of these experiments will be reported as soon as practicable.

The problem presented in the construction of this dam was an exceedingly difficult one. A dam was needed during low-water seasons, and any dam whatever is an obstruction to the free running of rafts and boats at high water. Below the dam there are 160 miles of unimproved river over which all crafts must pass to reach the slack water portion of the river. The navigation of the unimproved part is naturally affected by the dam at the headwaters, and it was thought that by the construction of a dam where the river was of more than usual width, and of which more than one quarter could be removed at pleasure, that navigation below the works would be benefited rather than injured. It was believed that by opening the gates, the water in the river immediately below the dam could be raised, and that in the river above the dam could be lowered, until the difference of level between the two pools would be so small that the chutes could be run with safety. The chutes can be and have been run successfully in the lower stages of the river, but recent experience has developed unexpected difficulties in the higher stages, and the experiments mentioned will be made to see if these difficulties can be removed.

Should it prove impossible to run the chutes in high water, and some change in the work be necessary, this can be effected at comparatively small cost by constructing a second pair of bear-trap gates in the chutes. With these the chutes could be used as locks at the higher stage of water, and when the waves at the end of the chutes were not too high they could be run as at present.

JAS. C. POST,
Major of Engineers.

FISSURES Cured without cutting or tearing. RECTAL ULCER,

The great bane of humanity, is cured if the patient does not call too late. This is the greatest secret enemy of mankind, and a disease of which little or nothing was known before the BRINKERHOFF discovery. Many patients are troubled with constipation or occasional attacks of diarrhea, lame back, headache, dyspepsia, itching increased at night, kidney and bladder trouble, that are not aware it is caused by ulceration in the lower bowels. It is now a well established fact that many diseases of the stomach, liver, kidney, bladder, womb and nervous system are either caused or aggravated by the existence of PILES, FISTULA, FISSURE or RECTAL ULCER.
